Piemonte, Italy

Produttori del Carema is a cooperative which was originally founded in 1960 with less than 12 producers. Well known for producing high quality wines, today their numbers have risen to 81 due to their huge success.

Produced from the Nebbiolo grape, just like the more famous Barbaresco and Barolo, however, the microclimate in Carema is much different than the latter two. It is far more rigid and previously, before climate change, Carema's Nebbiolo had trouble ripening. Furthermore, the area's extremely steep slopes have caused trouble, a problem of the past with modern machinery. The vines are trellised on stone and lime pillars, giving the pretty countryside an unmistakable, appearance. Carema is an aristocratic, very long-lived red. With aromas and flavours reminiscent of sour red cherries, raspberry, red roses, and tar, the wines are similar to Barolo and Barbaresco. However, they have livelier acidities, a tighter structure, and great refinement.

Unlike Barolo and Barbaresco, Carema is not required to be 100% Nebbiolo. Many contain small percentages of other local varieties, such as Crotina or Uva Rara, but must have a minimum of 85% Nebbiolo. The wines of Carema are well-known and have been sought after for centuries.

Since the 1500s, Carema has been chosen for the festive banquets of Dukes, Kings, and Popes, as Bacci tells us in his book, De vinis Italiae naturalis historia. Due to Carema's tradition and distinguished character, it was named one of Italy's first DOC wines in 1967.

"The 2020 Carema is a very pretty, ethereal wine. Sweet dried cherry, tobacco, incense, dried flowers, mint, pine and spice waft from the glass. Haunting in its beauty and finesse, the 2020 is a super-classic wine from the appellation. In other words, this is what Carema is all about." 91 points, Antonio Galloni, Vinous (February 2025)

"The 2019 Carema Riserva is laced with kirsch, orange peel, tobacco, cedar and incense. Intensely savory and floral, the 2019 is a total knockout. It has a bit more freshness and fruit compared to the 2020 Carema in this tasting, but the essential mineral signature of the appellation comes through loud and clear. Superb." 93 points, Antonio Galloni, Vinous (February 2025)
